Memories often fade, but not those of —

Days at Good Old A.H.S.

Many of the students of A.H.S. realize that the way to a brighter future is through education. They realize that studying not only disciplines the mind, but it also prepares them for higher education. If one chances to amble into the library during a study period, or even at a noon hour, he will see students absorbed in study. These students are making way for a brighter tomorrow.

Not all the school day, however, is made up of study. Many students take part in extra-curricular activities such as Student Council, F.F.A., F.H.A., Beta Club or Science Club. Such activities absorb much of the students' time and effort.

Sports, parties and other outside activities are also an important part of every student's school life. Here they learn valuable lessons in sportsmanship as well as in citizenship.

Assemblies are usually enjoyable as well as informative. Here students are given rules and regulations pertaining to dress, manners and discipline at A.H.S.

Even with a busy school day, students still find time to meet their favorite friends for a friendly chat before school or at noon hour.

TO STUDY is a "must" at AHS
Helen Wynn is taking advantage of a study period.

BOY MEETS GIRL too at A.H.S.
Barbara Williams and Roy Nix met at the noon hour.

To study is considered a privilege by some students at AHS. Roger Mounger is one of such students.

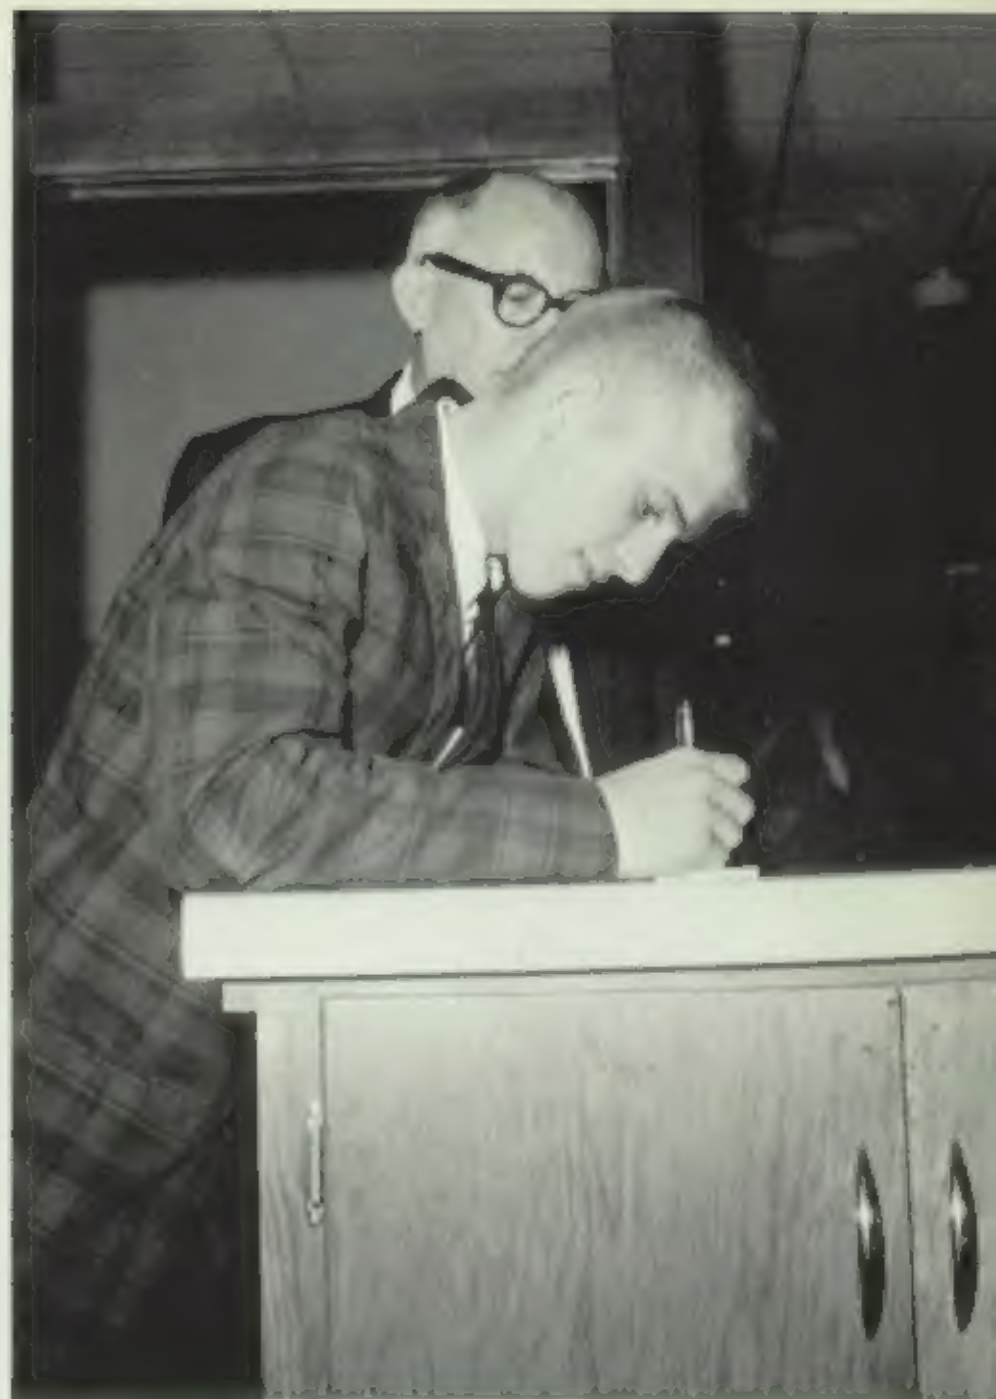

STUDENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE is necessary at A.H.S. Here Linda Fisher confers with Mrs. Tinsley.

CROWDED HALLS are typical of life at A.H.S. With only three minutes to make the next class which might be at the end of the three hundred foot hall, one must hurry....then too the noon hour is quite a rush.

Lunch time is a fun time.

Larry Walker, assisted by Mr. Clark, fills out a blue-slip to re-enter class.

Johnny Smart is one of the ninety students checking out books each day.
